

The 21st Century Flight Review

Get more than just an endorsement out of your next flight review!

If you're one of the many pilots who hasn't flown in more than just a few years, you may have noticed that aviation has gotten a makeover! So many of the aircraft out there have set aside the familiar six pack and have donned a pair of TV screens with which to display your in-flight information. While everything in our world is moving in the direction of the iPhone and iPad, it's a daunting transition for so many of us.

JA Flight Services has created the 21st Century Flight Review. This course will not only help you knock the rust off of your flying skills, it will take the mystery and the confusion out of the Technologically Advanced Cockpit.

We'll start with some time on the ground with one of our flight instructors going through some of the aviation and "glass cockpit" basics. The Redbird FMX full-motion simulator awaits with a G1000 cockpit to introduce this system in a controlled environment for a two hour flight lesson. Then, it's off to the airplane to strut your stuff and practice your new G1000 education in one of our new Cessna aircraft.

For a $399 investment, you could have your flight review behind you plus you'll have the basics of the latest in flying technology in your logbook.
